REPORT OF SCHOOLS

FOR THE YEAR ENDING FEB. 28, 1881.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Prudential Committee,

W. W. Stevenson.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

	1st Term.	2nd Term.	3rd Term.
Number of weeks,	12	12	12
Wages of teacher per month	$30	$36	$36
Whole number of scholars,	33	34	36
Average attendance,	26	33	31
Number not absent or tardy,	3	8	6
Number of visits by committee and others,	14	38	48

Miss Abbie A. Stickney had charge of this school during the spring term. The teacher failed to obtain the confidence of some of the scholars and parents, and thus the harmony of the school was somewhat marred.

Perhaps she was a little too exacting in some of her requirements. A strict adherence to the exact words of any text-book is not advisable; a definition or principle, stated in the pupil's own words is far better; for in the latter case the scholar thinks for himself and does not simply memorize the words of the author.

Fall and winter terms, Miss Abbie H. Allen, Teacher.

This Teacher needs no comment from your committee; her reputation as a teacher is too well established. She is known in many a school as an earnest, faithful, practical teacher. The exercises of the school, outside of the beaten paths of text books, have been interesting and profitable. The closing examination of the winter term was well attended by parents and friends who expressed themselves well pleased with the exercises. Reading has received special attention and marked improvement in this branch was evident. In fact, thoroughness was manifest in all the branches.

INTERMEDIATE SCHOOL.

	1st Term.	2nd Term.	3rd Term.
Number of weeks,	10	12	12
Wages of teacher per month,	$28	$28	$28
Whole number of scholars,	43	41	45
Average attendance,	39	31	31
Number not absent or tardy,	10	5	2
Number of visits by committee and others,	29	18	21

Spring term, Miss Mary E. Russell, Teacher. This school made good progress under this efficient teacher. She seemed well adapted for the work and we were sorry to lose her from our list of teachers. Miss Abbie A. Stickney returned to her former position as teacher of this school for the fall and winter terms. The classes in arithmetic and penmanship made especial progress. The school-room was quiet and orderly, as is usual where Miss Stickney presides.

PRIMARY SCHOOL.

	1st Term.	2nd Term.	3rd Term.
Number of weeks,	12	12	12
Wages of teacher per month,	$28	$28	$28
Whole number of scholars,	56	64	54
Average attendance,	48	54	35
Number not absent or tardy,	4	8	0
Number of visits by committee and others,	26	20	10

Miss Lucy E. Goodwin was employed as teacher in this department for the entire year, and proved to be the right person in the place. Her manner of instructing the little ones is highly commendable. Although this is our lowest grade of schools, it is by no means the least important. Impressions received here cling to the scholar thorough remaining school days and through life. Miss Goodwin proved herself equal to her task and awakened within her scholars a love instead of a hatred of school. Her method of conducting the reading exercises, somewhat modern in its nature, deserves especial mention. Monroe's Reading Charts have been used with wonderful results. At one visit, your committee was surprised to hear one young lad, who had been a member of the school only three weeks, and who could not tell a single letter of the English alphabet, at his entrance, read short sentences quite readily from the charts.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Prudential committee,	J. H. Barrett.
	1st Term.	2nd Term.
Number of weeks,	8	9
Wages of teacher per month,	$20	$20
Whole number of scholars,	6	5
Average attendance,	5	4
Number not absent or tardy,	0	0
Number of visits by committee and others,	10	10

This school has been in session only seventeen weeks during the year—less than half the time given to our village schools. This fact must be remembered in comparing the results obtained; but considering its advantages, or rather the disadvantages we can say the school has been successful under the instruction of Mrs. F. A. Spaulding the first term and Miss Emma F. Childs, the second.

DISTRICT, NO. 3.

Prudential committee, H. S. Adams, Geo. Arnold,
A. B. Eaton.

	1st Term.	2nd Term.	3rd Term.
Number of weeks,	9	7	8
Wages of teacher per month,	$22	$24	$28
Whole number of scholars,	18	17	23
Average attendance,	15	14	19
Number not absent or tardy,	2	1	1
Number of visits by committee and others,	40	9	21

Miss Lillie S. Adams, Teacher. This school has been favored with one of our very best teachers for the entire year. She possesses the happy faculty of preserving order, and the respect and good will of her pupils at the same time.

The school was most successfully managed, but there are a few families in this district who have always clung to the idea that they could administer the affairs of the school better than any teacher ever yet employed; consequently, if the teacher is not willing to follow their dictates, their children are removed from school. Thus the children are deprived of priceless privileges for the sake of the ignorant whims of the parents.

Parents, throw aside such foolish ideas; use a little of that good old staple article known as "common sense," and the next time a worthy teacher comes among you, give her your hearty support. (We are glad the above remarks apply to only a few.)

"Not how much, but how well," was the evident motto of the school. Some of the roads being impassable, a part of the scholars were unable to be present at the winter examination, but those who were present, by their ready answers and thorough knowledge of the studies pursued, showed that good work had been done. At the close of the exercises, the scholars surprised their teacher by presenting her with a handsomely bound book of poems, as a token of their love for her, and appreciation of her faithful services. We hope, for the school's sake, this teacher may return.

Our registers did not all contain blanks for the number of scholars in each study, therefore the usual table of statistics has been omitted in this report. We are glad to note the present standing of our schools, and yet we believe that it is far below what it ought to be, and what it might be, under a more perfect system of grading.

Competent teachers may be employed, and they may labor earnestly for the highest good of the schools, and yet the desired results are not fully obtained.

Every one who is familiar with our village schools knows that another department is necessary, that at present our schools are graded in name only. While this is true of our village schools, it is also a fact that the scholars in the out districts have still less advantages. But when there is so little interest manifested in school affairs by the voters of the town, that they will merely appropriate for school purposes what the law compels, we have little courage to advocate any measures except those which tend to retrenchment.

We sincerely hope, however, that the time is not far distant when we shall have a fourth department in our village, and the scholars from the out districts transported here, where they can enjoy equal privileges.

When this is done, a curriculum established, a diploma given to the scholar who completes it, and all the parents and friends of education work in harmony, then shall we have just cause to boast of our schools.

Your committee is well aware that in performing the duties of the office he has been subjected to severe criticisms, and he has no doubt that his final report will meet with censure; but he has endeavored to guide his acts and words, not in accordance with the wishes of "our party," or "our sect," but for the best interests of the schools.

How far he has been successful, a generous public will determine.

Respectfully submitted.

F. A. NEWELL, Supt. of Schools.
